Staffing

All companies running their own systems will need people to tune, backup, and configure their databases, application, and the operating systems they run on.

We can help you find DBAs, Developers, Testers, Technical Writers, Program Managers, Business Analysts, Project Managers and more!

Software Development

Focus on what you want it to do. We will focus on how to get it done. Everything from analysis to design to planning, coding, and documenting.

We specialize in web applications, background integration, and character based applications.

We always provide source code to the software we directly create. This way, even if Amduus goes in a different direction – you will always be able to update and maintain your applications.

Software As A Service

If we wrote it – we'll run it! It can be an effort to hire people for low maintenance applications. Amduus can help by running your applications on our servers.
